- Bringing the world into the primary languages classroom

We were very pleased to welcome a guest speaker on this topic Ellie Chettle Cully, the coordinator of the Leicester Primary Hub and a primary trained teacher of languages who is the subject leader of languages. Her school in Leicester is multilingual and multicultural and French is taught in the school.

Here is a link to her presentation <https://view.genial.ly/636d89971836620012cc10ba/presentation-celebrating-culture>

Here are some accompanying notes to each slide:

- Slide 1 – Ellie stressed that the activities which she is going to present today are ones which have been developed over the last 5 years in her school. She started with just one project and added more each year
- Slide 2 – In addition to the 3 language pillars, she feels that culture is equally as important and wanted to make sure it was included as it is something which all children can access and readily engage in. It is a way of opening up the world to children even if they do not have the opportunity to travel.
- Slide 3 – it was an atlas which Ellie received as a child which ignited her interest in other countries
- Slide 4 – initially she started by raising the profile of languages by celebrating the culture and languages of other countries on the European Day of Languages in September. Each class teacher planned activities, parents were invited to teach a 30 minute home language or share a storybook. Also the local Confucius Centre come into school to organize activities
- Slide 5 – key dates in the French calendar were identified and celebrated e.g. on the 14th July – teachers were given a bank of activities to do e.g. make Eiffel towers, cheese tasting, pétanque, a languages café. Ellie recommends contacting the ‘community champion’ in your local supermarket to access free foods in particular to use in a language day
- Slides 6 and 7 – then Ellie felt that she wanted a more multi-layered approach to including culture in the French curriculum. She wanted to weave culture and language. So she looked at her planning and slowly adapted elements in each year group so that cultural elements could be included using the language to be taught,

- Slides 8 - 9 – In Year 3 using a book ‘Vive l’heure du goûter’ she decided to make a comparison of snacks in England and France. The language was taught using a phonics method (Physical French Phonics) and then subsequently the children created mini-books using the structure of I like/I do not like
- Slides 10 – 11 – In Year 4 – inspired by an idea of Rachel Hawkes – she explored the style of the artist Matisse. She revisited previously learnt vocabulary of colours and introduced shape vocabulary. The children designed an abstract animal in the style of Matisse using knowledge of phonics and grammar.
- Slides 12 -13 – In Year 5 – the theme is La francophonie. They had encountered this topic in KS1 but it is revisited practicing the vocabulary they know for weather, numbers and clothes. They are asked to say which clothes they would pack to visit a particular francophonie country.
- Slides 14 – 16 – the Dakar fashion week is the theme in Year 6. The vocabulary of clothing is reviewed and the children describe the outfits using knowledge of grammar about adjectival agreement and position. As well as learning new vocabulary for particular garments they also develop cultural understanding about them.
- Slides 17-18 – also in Year 6 whilst studying the topic of music they practise giving opinions regarding Senegalese music and learn about traditional west African instruments.
- Slides 18-19 – new this year will be a virtual French trip to a market to link with the topic of shopping in Year 5. There will be a French market set up in the playground staffed by Year 6 and students from the local university. The children will buy picnic food to eat.
- Slide 20 – Ellie feels that it is important to forge real connections with others in the French speaking world so each year group has a partner – Year 3 – Guadeloupe, Year 4 – Chad, Year 5 – Rwanda, Year 6 – Sénégal. With some classes there is the possibility to have Zoom calls with others it is email of postcards.
- Slide 21 – The Turing Scheme has replaced the Erasmus support for visits abroad. The closing date for this year is the 28th April. Homepage - Turing Scheme \(turing-scheme.org.uk\)
- Slides 22 – 23 - To create links try the British Council – Schools Connect - Schools Connect | British Council. It is free to sign up and gives you access to schools looking for partners. Lots in France and Spain. Alternatively, try the British Council Connect Classrooms Connecting Classrooms | British Council to set up a partnership and the British Council will support you in this. There are many in Africa and Asia. Ellie is lucky in her school that 45 minutes a half term is timetabled as International Time to pursue these projects.
- Slide 24 – any international work in school can count towards the International School Award – there are different levels. It is a good way to get SLT on board as the awards can be displayed on the school website. International School Award | British Council
- Slides 25 -27 – Ellie wanted to create more cross-curricular links. Once a year there is a Francophonie art week when all the classes are off-timetable and each class studies an artist from their partner country. The children study the art techniques and life of the artist. This culminates in an exhibition. In addition, there are historical and geographical elements about the country. The books on e.g. Sénégal, Bolivia, Haiti from the publishers Scholastic have proved very useful.
- Slide 28 – all about ‘more with less’
- Ellie is very happy for you to contact her with any questions you may have. You can find her contact details in the presentation. Ellie was thanked for her very informative presentation.
